

GEORGIAN WINES 201. DEEP DIVE INTO THE WEST

WEDNESDAY, MAY 26, 2021
9:00AM PST / 12:00PM EST / 8:00PM TBILISI

Ancestral grapes. Ancient techniques. Modern tools. Revolutionary wines.

Georgian Wines 201 will offer a deep dive into three distinct macro terroirs and attendant winemaking styles in the western Georgia.

9:00AM PST | 12:00PM EST | 8:00PM Tbilisi

Beginning in the upper reaches of Imereti and mountainous Racha to the north, we'll swoop down into the warmer, flatter Imeretian lowlands before heading further west out to the lush semi-tropical regions of Samegrelo and Guria. Along the way, we'll be taking a close look at the most important autochthonous varieties in western Georgia, the various approaches to viticulture and vinification and the broader ongoing evolution in these endlessly fascinating corners of the Georgian Wine Universe.

The course will be led by LA-based wine educator Taylor Parsons, who will be joined by one of Georgian wine's undisputed masters, Iago Bitarishvili. In addition, we will have two guest winemakers: Keto Ninidze, of Oda Family Marani, and Aidan Raftery, the winemaker behind the Igavi label.

Four-ounce tasting pours of six different wines will be shipped to the first 40 licensed trade and media to sign-up with preference to those who participated in the 101 class. Wines can also be sourced directly through SevenFifty.

The seminar has an estimated run-time of 90 minutes.

The third seminar in the series Georgian Wines 202. Deep Dive into the East will be held Thursday, June 24, 2021.

Email georgia@marqwine.com with your interest and the following required information. Licensed trade and media only please.

- Name:
- Company/Organization:
- Shipping Address:
- Phone number (for FedEx):
- Email:
- Website:
- Additional Shipping Instructions:

Hosted by the Wines of Georgia / US office of the National Wine Agency (Marq Wine Group)

